Only global citizens can address global challenges.

The issues are immense, and they affect us all: energy production, cybersecurity, food safety, environmental sustainability, epidemic disease control. Such critical challenges transcend national boundaries. To solve them, the world needs leaders with intercultural understanding, sensitivity, and competency—true citizens of the world.

You have the opportunity to shape the global leaders of tomorrow. And now, you can double the impact of your gift.
Make Life-Changing Opportunities Accessible.

Students benefit enormously from study abroad. It exposes them to cultures other than their own, and it equips them to think and act with both in mind. It nurtures leadership skills: adaptability, empathy, independence, initiative.

But financial obstacles prevent many IU undergraduates from studying abroad. You can remove those obstacles and allow more students to gain the intercultural skills and perspectives they need to meet today’s global challenges.

“When you help our students study abroad, you’re teaching them the intricacies of today’s global society—and greatly expanding their worldview for their lives back home.”

—MICHAEL A. MCROBBIE
President, Indiana University

Twice the Opportunity to Change the World.

For every study abroad scholarship you endow, the Office of the President will match its earnings, doubling the amount available to support students overseas.

To qualify, your endowment gift must be at least $50,000 and designated for undergraduate study abroad scholarships in university-approved, credit-bearing programs. The match will apply to all qualifying gifts until all funds are allocated.

“Once you step out of the United States ... you learn a new lifestyle, which opens your eyes and ears to another life you were blind to.”

—EUNICE NTIAMOAH
Journalism major studied abroad in Ghana

Make a World of Difference.

The world grows more interconnected every day. The most successful lives and careers will embrace that reality. Your gift for Study Abroad Scholarships will give IU students the tools to engage with other cultures and help them become change agents for a global society.

For all the IU students who yearn to make a difference in the world, for all the young minds primed to do great things, for all who dream big.

Be the catalyst—For All.

“It was through tutoring in India that I discovered the joy of helping others overcome obstacles. It served as one of the biggest motivators for me to pursue a career in medicine.”

—AADITYA SHAH
Neuroscience major studied abroad in India and Spain

You may fund your gift in a variety of ways, and you may designate it to benefit students in a specific program, school, or campus. You may also designate it to support study in a particular country or region of the world.