INDIANA UNIVERSITY

---

8:30 am Registration & Refreshments

8:45 am Introduction

*Anjali Sengupta, Outreach Coordinator
East Asian Studies Center*

9:05 am Human Rights

Students will begin to explore how human rights are defined and how cultural values influence these definitions.

9:30 am Activity

Students will experience how definitions for human rights vary and the difficulty in conclusively defining these "rights."

10:45 am Lecture

*Dr. Jean C. Robinson, Associate Professor,
Dept. of Political Science, East Asian Languages & Cultures, and Women's Studies*

11:30 am LUNCH (Participants should bring sack lunches; EASC will provide snacks and drinks.)

12:00 pm Discussion Groups

Students will examine human rights issues in more depth by discussing some of the difficulties in defining human rights and by exploring alternate cultural perspectives on "human rights."

1:15 pm What does it all mean?

With active student participation, we will work to draw some conclusions regarding human rights.

1:45 pm Closing Remarks and Evaluations
