Asian American Studies Program presents

Why Ferguson Matters to Asian Americans
Friday, March 27th, 12 noon—1:30 p.m.
Neal-Marshall Black Culture Center, Bridgwaters Lounge
Lunch Provided

FEATURING:

Professor Julie Merseth (Postdoctoral Fellow, CRRES and Visiting Assistant Professor, Political Science, IUB)
Professor Ishan Ashutosh (Assistant Professor, Geography, IUB)
Reverend Mihee Kim-Kort (Clergy, Presbyterian Church, USA and author/blogger)

Join the Asian American Studies Program for this important conversation on race, police brutality, and social injustice in the United States in the wake of Ferguson. We will wrestle with the urgent question: What can Asian Americans do for the #BlackLivesMatter movement?

Co-sponsored by Asian Pacific American Law Student Association
