In May 2016, Professor Pisano will again be directing the study abroad course in London for graduate and undergraduate students interested in the theatre. This three-credit course includes three incredible weeks of viewing and exploring British theatre from a character-based perspective and its physical transformation through costume. All disciplines from Theatre History/Literature, Acting/Directing, Design/Technology & Dance will find this course an unforgettable part of their education at Indiana University.

Contact: Linda Pisano