Soul Revue turns 40

Launched in 1971, the IU Soul Revue became America’s first collegiate black popular music ensemble offered for academic credit. The group’s 40th anniversary concert, 8 p.m. Saturday at the Buskirk-Chumley Theater, will feature music from the birth of Motown through today, from James Brown to Sly and the Family Stone, The Temptations, Mary J. Blige and more. The Soul Revue, in collaboration with IU’s African American Dance Company, will end the concert with a Soul Train line designed to get audience members on their feet. And following the concert, there will be a karaoke session for guests and friends in the Neal-Marshall Black Culture Center’s Grand Hall. Tickets for the Bus-Chum show are $20 for adults and $10 for children and students (limit two per ID). Call 323-3020 or visit www.bctboxoffice.com.
