Ensemble Description
The African American Dance Company is a performance course offered through the Department of African American and African Diaspora Studies and managed by the African American Arts Institute. Enrollment is open by audition to full and part-time students on the IU Bloomington campus. The Company performs formal choreographed pieces that include modern, jazz, social contemporary and traditional dance styles representing the African Diaspora. Performances are given in and outside of Bloomington. The Associate Instructor assists the Dance Company director with instruction, choreography, and ensemble management.
