Indiana University Collegiate 4-H is a student-run organization that serves the local community, promotes leadership development, and assists the Indiana 4-H Youth Development Program. These former 4-H members give students the opportunity to socialize with people of similar backgrounds and upbringings. Collegiate 4-H basically features all the fun of traditional 4-H without the projects.

More information about the club is available at <http://www.indiana.edu/~c4h/>

The last date to register is: Wednesday, February 14, 2007
