presents

Call for Papers

Please join us for the 24th Annual Central Eurasian Studies Conference that will be held on March 3rd-4th, 2017 at Indiana University in Bloomington.

Students, faculty, and independent scholars are cordially invited to submit abstracts of no more than 500 words to aces@indiana.edu by December 16th, 2016 for international applicants needing a visa and January 16th, 2017 for domestically located applicants.

For the purposes of this conference, Central Eurasian Studies refers to the study of the historical and contemporary Afghan, Balto-Finnic, Hungarian, Iranian, Mongolic, Tibetan, Tungusic, and Turkic peoples, languages, cultures, and states. Submission of pre-organized panels is strongly encouraged. Individual papers are also welcome and will be assigned by the Conference Committee to a suitable panel. All proposals will be subject to a double-blind review process.
Past panels have included:

- Islamic Shrines & Hagiographies
- Politics of the Environment and Natural Resources
- Contemporary Movements in Mongolian Music
- Gender, Community, and Demography in Central Eurasia
- Finno-Uralic Politics and Identity
- Untold Histories and Contexts in Tibet
- Architecture and Archaeology
- Memory and Heritage in Modern Mongolia
- The New Buryatka: Women in Soviet and Post-Soviet Buryatia
- Discourses in Persian Literature

The Keynote Speaker will be Dr. Sienna Craig of Dartmouth College. More details on the keynote speech, workshops, and cultural events to follow.
