Beyond Dichotomies: Challenges in Reframing ‘The Global’

A lecture by Gillian Hart, University of California-Berkeley

Framing the Global Plenary Address

This closing plenary talk will reflect on the themes of the conference through the lens of recent debates over spatiality in critical human geography. The talk will suggest the political, analytical, and methodological stakes in how we conceptualize space, drawing on examples from the conference papers as well as the speaker’s recent research on resurgent nationalisms in post-apartheid South Africa.

September 28, 2013 at 10:45 a.m.

IMU’s Frangipani Room

You can find more information here: http://framing.indiana.edu/conference/