

Indiana University
Department of Second Language Studies

seeks candidates for

Tenure-Track Assistant Professor

The Department of Second Language Studies announces a tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor level for a candidate with a PhD in Second Language Studies, Applied Linguistics, or Linguistics. Candidates must be actively engaged in quantitative research on the effects of instruction on language acquisition, including the acquisition of English. Documented excellence in teaching, which should include classroom teaching of English as a second or foreign language, is required. The teaching load will be two courses per semester. Applicants should send a statement of interest, curriculum vitae, sample publications, and three letters of recommendation by December 5, 2011, to Professor Kathleen Bardovi-Harlig, Department of Second Language Studies, 313 Memorial Hall, 1021 E. Third Street, Indiana University, Bloomington, Indiana 47405. (Visit us on the web at <http://www.indiana.edu/~dsls/>)

Indiana University is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer. Indiana University encourages applications from women and minorities.