

REFERENCE GRAPHS

Alternative models of evolutionary change

The classical view is of gradual change (left); more abrupt speciation (right) may instead be the major process. The graphs are drawn as frequency distributions of morphological structure. (Modified from South African Journal of Science, vol. 76, no. 61, 1980.)