

We are honored to welcome Matthew Connelly, Professor of History at Columbia University, as Visiting Scholar for the Framing the Global project (www.indiana.edu/~global/framing).

Professor Connelly will present a public lecture on Thursday, March 21, 2013, 4:00 - 5:30 p.m.

*"The History and Future of Official Secrecy:
The Last Frontier of State Sovereignty"*

The State Room East, Indiana Memorial Union

Matthew Connelly

Thursday, March 21, 2013, 4:00 - 5:30 p.m., The State Room East, Indiana Memorial Union

Framing the Global is a partnership between the Indiana University Center for the Study of Global Change and Indiana University Press, funded by the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation

This lecture is part of the Global Perspectives Speaker Series of the School of Global and International Studies

There will also be an opportunity to talk with Matthew Connelly from noon to 1:30 p.m. on the same day,
Thursday, March 21, 2013.

He will be participating in the Global Studies Positioning Series, a luncheon discussion series at the Center for the Study of Global Change (201 N. Indiana Avenue), where he will talk about his approaches to exploring global processes and discuss how he shares this knowledge with his students. This event is free and open to the public, but space is limited.

Cookies and coffee will be provided. Please RSVP, framing@indiana.edu.

Thursday, March 21, 2013, noon-1:30 p.m.
Center for the Study of Global Change, 201 N. Indiana Avenue