Course: V160 National and International Policy

This course already had an international component, but it was limited and largely overshadowed by domestic policy. ICAB helped me enhance and expand the international component of the course in almost every area that I cover. It further introduced new teaching techniques that are especially helpful in covering international topics. As the lead instructor of my course, I have been encouraging and working with other instructors to increase the international component across all sections.