THEMATIC CONCENTRATIONS

GLOBAL HEALTH & ENVIRONMENT (Core course: I202)
Focus is on the international dimension of health and environmental issues through the study of global diseases, local responses to disease prevention and environmental disasters, and the attitudes and values behind human interactions with environments.

GLOBAL DEVELOPMENT (Core course: I203)
Focus is on the interaction between social, political and economic forces and human development conditions at global, national and subnational scales.

HUMAN RIGHTS & INTERNATIONAL LAW (Core course: I204)
Focus is on universal struggles for social change and international accords on human rights through cross-cultural, interdisciplinary and historical perspectives as well as the manner in which international law is interpreted and enforced in local contexts.

INTERNATIONAL COMMUNICATION & THE ARTS (Core course: I205)
Focus is on forms of cultural expression and the production and circulation of ideas, images and information from comparative and global perspectives. Issues include the role of digital media, communication modes and the arts in defining complex group identities and in local responses to global phenomena.

IDENTITY & CONFLICT (Core course: I206)
Focus is on the role group identities play in shaping national and international discourses, actions and policies, and on the emergence and development of conflicts around the world. Issues include the prevalence of nationalistic movements, the salience of ethnic and religious identification and the importance of conflict resolution.

DIPLOMACY, SECURITY, GOVERNANCE (Core course: I210)
Focus is on issues of global governance through understanding the development of the international states system and the efficacy of diplomatic efforts in addressing global security concerns.

CAREERS IN INTERNATIONAL STUDIES

Non-governmental Organizations
Law and Legal Professions
Foreign Service
Public Relations
Think Tanks
Media
Business
Municipal, State and Federal Agencies
Political Action Committees
Performing Arts Committees
Tourism Promotion
Museums
Film and Recording Industries
Journalism
Education

INTERNATIONAL STUDIES
School of Global & International Studies
College of Arts & Sciences

Learn to communicate, collaborate and work across national, cultural and socioeconomic boundaries

Contact us at:
intl@indiana.edu or 812-856-1816

www.indiana.edu/~intlweb
MAJOR REQUIREMENTS - B.A.

- Two INTL 200-level core courses (one must be within the chosen thematic concentration)
- Four INTL 300/400-level courses (excluding I400, I405, I406 and I498) selected as follows:
  - Two INTL 300-level courses within the chosen thematic concentration
  - Two additional INTL 300/400-level courses of the student’s choosing
- Three 300/400-level regional concentration courses to be taken outside of department
- Six semesters of foreign language
- INTL-I315 Methods in International Studies
- International Experience (minimum six weeks)
- INTL-I400 Capstone Seminar
- ASCS-Q 299 Marketing Yourself for the Job and Internship Search
- An approved outside minor

MAJOR REQUIREMENTS - B.S.

- Two INTL 200-level core courses (one must be within the thematic chosen concentration)
- Four INTL 300/400-level courses (excluding I400, I405, I406 and I498) selected as follows:
  - Two INTL 300-level courses within the chosen thematic concentration
  - Two additional INTL 300/400-level courses of the student’s choosing
- Three 300/400-level regional concentration courses to be taken outside of department
- Six semesters of foreign language
- INTL-I315 Methods in International Studies
- International Experience (minimum six weeks)
- INTL-I400 Capstone Seminar
- ASCS-Q299 Marketing Yourself for the Job and Internship Search
- An approved outside minor
- ECON-E201 Microeconomics
- ECON-E309 International Economics (or approved equivalent)
- An approved quantitative reasoning course

MINOR REQUIREMENTS

- INTL-I100 or INTL-I220
- One INTL 200-level core course that establishes the student’s thematic concentration
- Three INTL 300/400-level courses within the department (excluding I400, I405, I406 and I498) selected as follows:
  - One INTL 300-level course within the chosen thematic concentration
  - Two additional INTL 300/400-level courses of the student’s choosing