A New Class for Fall 2012: Introductory Indonesian

Love languages? Interested in Southeast Asian cultures? Try Indonesian!

Consider enrolling in Bahasa Indonesia – the official language of the fourth most populous country in the world. Through tutorial-style instruction, this course will provide an introduction to the practical mastery of spoken Indonesian and insight into Indonesian culture. Classroom activities stress active practice of formal, spoken Indonesian used in conversational situations. Activities include drills, games, practice in pairs and role plays.

Taught by Professor Amrih Widodo of the School of Culture, History and Language at The Australian National University and Mateus Yumarnamto, a Fulbright Scholar at Indiana University from Indonesia. The course will be delivered in part via videoconferencing with daily local instruction as well.

This class is offered under the auspices of the ANU-IU Pan Asia Institute, a joint collaboration between two outstanding institutions: The Australian National University and Indiana University.

Details

The course is available to undergraduates for 4 credits and to graduate students for 3 credits. A second semester of Introductory Indonesian will be offered in the Spring 2013 term.

Course numbers:
COLL-C 100 (33349), 4 Credits (undergraduate)
COLL-C 500 (33350), 3 Credits (graduate)

Meeting Times:
Mon thru Wed 4:00-5:00 p.m. & Thursdays, 4:00-6:00 p.m.

Note: Given differences in academic calendars at ANU and IU, classes will meet August 20 through November 16.

Location: TBA

For more information contact:
Mateus Yumarnamto
Tutor
myumarna@indiana.edu

or

Melissa Biddinger
Associate Director, ANU-IU Pan Asia Institute
855-0269
mbidding@iu.edu
Opportunities for Continuing the Study of Indonesian

Spring 2013 – Second Semester of Introductory Indonesian

Continue your study of Indonesian with Professor Widido and Mateus in the Spring semester. As with the fall course, the class will be offered in the evenings, Monday through Thursday.

DHARMASISWA Scholarship Program

Study for the summer or up to one year in Indonesia with funding from the DHARMASISWA Scholarship Program. Language and culture courses are taught at accredited universities and credits will transfer to IU. Additional information is available at: http://darmasiswa.kemdiknas.go.id.

ANU In-Country Program

Complete up to an additional year of Indonesian for credit in Summer 2013 in Salatiga, Indonesia via ANU’s In-Country Program in Indonesia. Intensive language study, cultural immersion through home-stays, and the opportunity to intern with local organizations are available through ANU’s In-Country programs. Open to both undergraduate and graduate students, the program lasts from 4-7 weeks. Additional information is available at: https://alliance.anu.edu.au/web/incountry_indonesia/public/index.htm.

Study Abroad at ANU

Undergraduate and graduate students with an interest in Asian studies are encouraged to apply for the ANU-IU Pan Asia Institute exchange awards. You can continue your study of Indonesian in one of the world’s strongest programs in Southeast Asian Studies while taking advantage of the myriad of other courses and opportunities available at ANU.

2013 Program Dates

- Spring 2013: February 18 – May 31, 2013
  - Application deadline: mid-September 2012
- Fall 2013: July 22 – November 1, 2013
  - Application deadline: mid-February 2013

Contact Us

For additional information regarding the above opportunities, contact the Pan Asia Institute at panasia@iu.edu – we’d be delighted to hear from you!

www.anu.edu.au