LABYRINTH is a literary magazine published each spring semester and sponsored by the Hutton Honors College. We accept poetry, short fiction, and visual art.

Any Indiana University Bloomington undergraduate may submit work.

Prose submissions must be 1500 words or less, though even shorter pieces (flash and micro fiction) are preferred. There is no limit on the number of submissions, but we do not accept work submitted simultaneously to other campus magazines.

All submissions are peer reviewed and awards of $50 will go to the best work in each category (poetry, prose, and artwork).

All submissions should be sent as attachments to laby@indiana.edu. Be sure to include your name, major(s), and class standing. In the case of photographs and visual art, high-resolution electronic scans are preferred.

You will be notified if your work is selected for publication in April.

Please send any questions or concerns to laby@indiana.edu, and be sure to follow us on Twitter @LabyrinthIU
