Honors Physics is a calculus-based introductory course covering electricity and magnetism and optics. The class meets five days per week. Meetings are a mixture of lectures and discussion. Labs and lab projects are carried out on your own schedule. The class meets in a classroom designed specifically for this course.