This class meets with SPEA-H 320.

An overview of the U.S. health care delivery system. It examines the organization, function, and role of the system; current system problems; and alternative systems or solutions.

Frank Vilardo is an associate professor emeritus for the School of Public and Environmental Affairs. His areas of interest include public and private health administration, focusing on injuries as a public health problem from a behavioral perspective; drunk-driver countermeasures, transportation incidents involving radioactive materials and enforcement of local retail food inspection laws.