Is national unity a realistic goal or a pipe dream? Is the nation-state in crisis? Is globalization making nations obsolete? Are there better and worse policies for managing divided societies? This course will address these and other questions, considering cases from around the world, including Asia, Africa, and Europe.