Meets with SPEA-V161

S161 is an introduction to urban policy issues. Topics include political, social and economic foundations and development of cities and suburbs; urban planning, poverty and other selected urban problems.

This spring will feature a “Model Cities” approach. We will be using case studies highlighting Philadelphia, Sacramento, California and Indianapolis in the United States, and the Polish cities of Gdansk, Krakow and Warsaw. The Polish cities were finalists this year in Michael Bloomberg’s “Best City Concepts” in the European competition.
