INDIANA UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF EDUCATION

A teacher is a special person who can have a tremendous influence on thousands of students over a lifetime. A career in teaching can be one of the most rewarding endeavors you choose to pursue.

Advantages of Teaching

What Project TEAM Has to Offer You...

This program is dedicated to providing you the guidance and resources to maximize your success in the process of becoming a teaching professional.

Some of the benefits offered include:

- Honors seminar in education
- Individualized advising and program planning
- Preparation for the National Teachers Exam (NTE)
- Outreach with middle and secondary schools
- Degree options in College of Arts and Science or School of Education
- Choice of teacher education major in early childhood, elementary, secondary, or all-grades (e.g. music, art, physical education, or special education)
- Summer camp instruction for middle school students
- Pairing participants with faculty and graduate student mentors
- Peer support
- Optional recruitment work in home communities
- Financial assistance for educational expenses

Who Should Apply?

Undergraduates from African American, Latino and American Indian backgrounds may apply. Non-educational majors are strongly encouraged.

Qualifications

Students must have completed a minimum of 26 semester hours with a grade point average of 2.5 or higher. Students in their second semester who have not completed 26 hours may be accepted, pending completion of the required hours and grade point average. Applicants must be committed to academic achievement, show a record of community service, and have a strong interest in education. They must agree to teach a minimum of one year after graduation and obtain their teacher certification.

Application Process

Applications will be reviewed on an ongoing basis. Top candidates will be notified in February and invited for an interview on one of three days prior to spring break. The interview process lasts 2 1/2 to 3 hours and includes small group sessions as well as a private interview.

What is Project TEAM?

Project TEAM (Transformative Education Achievement Model) is an important part of the School of Education's efforts to prepare teachers for culturally diverse student populations. The primary purpose of Project TEAM is to offer a community within the School of Education that provides academic, social, personal, and financial support for students from underrepresented minorities who wish to become teachers.
