

Phonology Fest 2006

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
BLOOMINGTON

JUNE 19 - 29, 2006

A Set of Mini-Courses on

Current Perspectives in Optimality Theory (Week 1)
and Phonology of Germanic Languages (Week 2)

with a Phonology Workshop (June 23-24)

Week 1

Arto Anttila Stanford University
"Variation in Optimality Theory"

Daniel Dinnsen Indiana University
"Phonological Acquisition and Disorders"

John McCarthy University of Massachusetts
"Alternative Architectures for Optimality Theory"

Rachel Walker University of Southern California
"Harmony in Optimality Theory"

Week 2

Stuart Davis Indiana University
English Phonology

Tracy Alan Hall Indiana University
German Phonology

Marc van Oostendorp Meertens Institute
Dutch Phonology

Curt Rice University of Tromsø
Norwegian Phonology

Registration Fees (Per Week)

Students	$50*	($80 after June 1, 2006)
Non-Students	$100	($180 after June 1, 2006)

*If you plan to participate in PhonologyFest for Indiana University credit, you need to enroll in Linguistics L700 for the second summer session. You can enroll for 1-3 credit hours. If you plan to attend for just one week, you should enroll for one credit hour; if you plan to attend for both weeks, you can enroll for two credit hours. You can enroll for three credit hours by attending both weeks and doing a written assignment to be determined. Students from other BigTen schools and the University of Chicago should inquire with their CIC program about enrolling for direct credit through their own university.

<http://www.indiana.edu/~phono/>

Contact: <phono@indiana.edu>

Sponsored by Indiana University Linguistics Club and Department of Linguistics