Workshop for teachers
Indiana University-Bloomington
Ballantine Hall 003

Friday, June 24, 2 PM – 5 PM
Saturday, June 15, 9 AM – 12 Noon

In this workshop, Dr. Laurie Iudin-Nelson will lead teachers in exploring theoretical and practical questions that pertain to the use of music in teaching foreign languages, with particular emphasis on the development of speaking, listening, writing, and reading skills within the National Standards in Foreign Language Education 5Cs framework for foreign language education (Communication, Culture, Connections, Comparisons, Communities). The workshop is free and open to all in-service and pre-service teachers of any language and at any level (pre-school, K-12, college/university).

Dr. Laurie Iudin-Nelson chairs the Department of Modern Languages and Literatures and directs the Russian Program at Luther College in Decorah, Iowa. A prominent specialist on music in foreign language pedagogy, she has also led the Luther College Balalaika Ensemble since 1992. Dr. Iudin-Nelson served for many years as a teacher and dean at Lesnoe Ozero, the summer Russian-language camp at Concordia Language Villages in Bemidji, Minnesota. In the summer of 2010, she returned to Lesnoe Ozero as a facilitator/presenter in the “Second Language and Immersion Methodologies for Russian Teachers” program, a two-week graduate level course for in-service K-12 Russian teachers, funded by a National Foreign Language Center STARTALK grant.

Travel fellowships to the workshop are available for pre-college (pre-school or K-12) teachers of Russian. The fellowships will cover the cost of round-trip and ground transportation between the teacher's home and Indiana University-Bloomington, one night's accommodation, and a per diem to offset meal expenses. Preference will be given to applicants who currently teach at schools in Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky, Ohio, and Michigan; however, all are encouraged to apply. To submit an application for a travel fellowship, please write Mark Trotter at martrott@indiana.edu. Deadline for application: May 15.
