China, Russia, and the World
FOCUS ON THE EUROPEAN UNION

April 15, 2016
9:00 AM - 11:30 AM
IMU Dogwood Room

The successor to REEI’s annual Roundtable on Postcommunism, “China, Russia, and the World” is a series of annual symposia that focus on the engagement (economic, cultural, political) of China and Russia with particular regions of the world. This year’s symposium will address Chinese and Russian involvements with the European Union, exploring the consequences of these involvements for the EU and tracing the motivations that have shaped the nature of Russian-EU and Chinese-EU relations from the Cold War into the present.

Panelists:
Maria Raquel Freire, University of Coimbra
Philippe LeCorre, Brookings Institute and Johns Hopkins University
Tom Wolfe, University of Minnesota

Discussants
Ke-Chin Hsia, Indiana University
Joyce Y. Man, Indiana University

Moderators
Timothy Hellwig, Indiana University
Sarah Phillips, Indiana University

Co-Sponsors: East Asian Studies Center, Russian and East European Institute, Institute for European Studies

For more information:  http://www.indiana.edu/~reeiweb/newsEvents/FocusOnEuropeanUnion.shtml

Persons with disabilities who wish to attend this event and would like to request assistance should contact the REEI office (812-855-7309 or reei@indiana.edu)