Zhanna Chernova

Professor of Sociology, Higher School of Economics (Saint Petersburg, Russia)

Monday, February 22/12:15pm
Global and International Studies Building 4067

Zhanna Chernova is the author of Family as political question: State project and Private practices (2013), Family Policy in Europe and Russia: Gender Aspects (2008), and numerous articles that address such topics as social and family policy, gender representation, and the history of daily life in the USSR. She is currently a visiting scholar at Indiana University under the auspices of the Institute for Advanced Studies.

Sponsors: Institute for Advanced Studies, Russian and East European Institute

Persons with disabilities who require assistance to attend this event should contact the REEI office (812-855-7309 or reei@indiana.edu)