Filmmaker Elena Volochine, co-director of Oleg’s Choice, will speak about propaganda and the war on media.

Volochine is an international journalist and documentary filmmaker, and the Moscow bureau chief for France 24, a Paris-based news operation that broadcasts in French, English and Arabic to 250 million households around the world.

She has produced reports and feature stories for several francophone TV and radio stations, covering Russia and the former Soviet Bloc.