The t-shirt has evolved from its humble origins as a man’s undergarment to one of the most ubiquitous pieces of clothing in our closets. View more than 100 examples of this popular phenomenon from the Indiana University Sage Collection.

Opening Reception     Fri. April 12, 5–7pm

Guest Speaker John Tiffany     Tue. April 23, 6–7pm
Author of Eleanor Lambert: The Empress of Fashion.

T-Shirt Workshop with Jessica Quirk     Sat. May 11, 1–4pm
Author of What I Wore

Overseen by the Department of Apparel Merchandising and Interior Design, the Sage Collection preserves over 24,000 items of clothing and related artifacts for exhibition and research.

This exhibition and related events are made possible by the Indiana University College of Arts and Sciences, Department of Apparel Merchandising and Interior Design, and the Endowment by Bill Blass to Friends of the Sage Collection.

IUCA+D Columbus Gallery
310 Jackson St., Columbus, Indiana 47201
Mon.–Fri. 10–5; Saturdays 12–5

For further info: 812/375-7550 or lwestmar@indiana.edu