Welcome

Conference Host
The Ohio State University

Karen Bell, Dean of the College of the Arts
Mellasenah Morris, Director of the School of Music
Local Arrangements Committee:
Margarita Mazo (chair), Daniel Avorgbedor, Udo Will, David Harnish (Bowling Green State University)

The Ohio State University and the School of Music warmly welcome the participants of SEM 2007, the 52nd annual meeting of the Society for Ethnomusicology in Columbus, Ohio. The city, itself a microcosm of the cultural complexity and diversity of today’s world, promises to be a stimulating site for nurturing discussions on our official theme of Music, War and Reconciliation. During the meeting, this theme will resonate with today’s passions, empathies, and with symbolic celebrations on several levels and in numerous activities, from academic discussion to encounters with local musicians, music making and dancing.

The 2007 program features a profoundly diverse mix of issues, themes, and music cultures. Highlights of the special events, prepared by the organizers of the meeting include a pre-conference Symposium: New Directions in Cognitive Ethnomusicology, a concert of Hindustani music, the opening reception, and a special banquet. A caller and musicians from Ohio will lead an Old Time music and dance workshop, while another workshop will teach ballroom dancing. We will have a salsa dance party with one of Ohio’s best salsa groups, Yumbambé. In preparation for this festive occasion, those who wish to learn the dance steps may join a salsa dance workshop, offered by Robin Moore just before the party begins. OSU performing groups and other Ohio musicians will provide entertainment during the reception and banquet, and we will also have a special concert featuring Korean, Russian, and African musics performed by OSU faculty, students. Bill Ivey, Vanderbilt University, will deliver the annual Charles Seeger lecture.

In keeping with the conference theme of Music, War and Reconciliation, we hope that all of you will find ample opportunities to resolve issues you have struggled with, find new ideas and insights to take home, reconcile relationships with old friends, learn new music, and form new friendships. Once again, welcome to SEM 2007 and enjoy the meeting!

Silent Auction
The Silent Auction is located just outside the book exhibit. Proceeds from the auction are used to subsidize student registration fees at the annual meetings. The auction is open during book exhibit hours. The auction will end one hour prior to the closing of the book exhibit on Saturday afternoon at 12pm. Items won must be paid for and retrieved on Saturday between noon and 2pm; the Student Concerns Committee will not be able to mail sold items. The Committee is unable to accept credit cards, but can accept cash and checks. Join in the fun and friendly competition for a worth-while aim of supporting the professional development of our student members and future colleagues.

Seeger Prize Papers
Student presenters who wish to have their papers considered for the Charles Seeger Prize must leave four copies in the box at the SEM table in the book exhibit, along with a completed application form. Guidelines for submission are posted on the SEM website (www.ethnomusicology.org).

Business Center
The Hyatt on Capitol Square offers a full-service Business Center, located in the Executive Offices, next to the Front Desk, on the first floor.

Business Center Hours:
Open 7 days/week – 8am-6pm. Hotel guests have 24 hour keyed access, 7 days/week. Not staffed. It does take credit cards.

Reception for First Time Attendees & New Members
First time attendees, students, or visitors from outside the US attending the meeting who would like to have a veteran SEM host get you started at the conference, please plan to join us for this special reception in your honor. Thursday, 5:30pm in the Governor’s Ballroom Foyer, located on the Second Floor.

Job Interviews
Interview times and sign-ups are posted on the bulletin board at the registration desk. SEM Board of Directors discourages interviews from being conducted in sleeping rooms.

Bus Transportation
Bus transportation will be provided to all programmed events scheduled outside the Hyatt on Capitol Square on Saturday, October 27 only. Buses will depart from the front entrance of the hotel. Please refer to the bus schedule in the back of the program for shuttle times and locations.

Ethnomusicology and the 21st Century Music Scene
Bill Ivey, Curb Center for Art, Enterprise, and Public Policy, Vanderbilt University

Introduction of the speaker by Dan Sheehy, Smithsonian Folkways.

We gratefully acknowledge the Ohio State University Center for Folklore Studies (Dorothy Noyes, Director) for providing additional support for this lecture.

The Society for Ethnomusicology is pleased to welcome Bill Ivey as the 2007 Seeger Lecture at the annual meeting in Columbus, Ohio. Bill Ivey is the Director of the Curb Center for Art, Enterprise, and Public Policy at Vanderbilt University, an arts policy research center with offices in Nashville, Tennessee, and Washington, DC, and is President of the American Folklore Society for 2006 and 2007. He also serves as Senior Consultant to Leadership Music, a music industry professional development program, and chairs the board of the National Recording Preservation Foundation, a federally chartered foundation affiliated with the Library of Congress. He is currently board chairman of WPLN, Nashville Public Radio, and is completing a book about the public interest and America's cultural system.

From May, 1998 through September, 2001, Ivey served as the seventh Chairman of the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal cultural agency. Following years of controversy and significant budget cuts, Ivey's leadership is credited with restoring Congressional confidence in the work of the NEA. Ivey's Challenge America Initiative, launched in 1999, has to date garnered more than $19 million in new Congressional appropriations for the Arts Endowment.

Prior to government service, Ivey was director of the Country Music Foundation in Nashville, Tennessee. He was twice elected board chairman of the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences. Ivey holds degrees in folklore, history, and ethnomusicology, as well as honorary doctorates from the University of Michigan, Michigan Technological University, Wayne State University, and Indiana University. He is a four-time Grammy Award nominee (Best Album Notes category), and is the author of numerous articles on US cultural policy and folk and popular music. His newest book, Arts, Inc.: How Greed and Neglect Have Destroyed Our Cultural Rights will be published by the University of California Press in 2008.

Recent developments in cognitive sciences have seen the emergence of new paradigms that emphasize the integrated relationships between mind and body, acknowledge the importance of individual experience in understanding human cognition, and revise the understanding of the relationship between inherited and acquired traits in the formation of human capacities. With the increased interest of cognitive sciences in music studies, these trends clearly offer a chance for ethnomusicology to become a fully-fledged partner in new interdisciplinary inquiry and an opportunity to re-examine some enduring disciplinary beliefs and practices. The Symposium explores new opportunities and challenges posed for ethnomusicology by these developments. The Symposium also aims to expand and deepen understanding between cognitive and more traditional subfields of our discipline. To facilitate the dialogue, distinguished ethnomusicologists whose work does not involve approaches and methods of the cognitive sciences will serve as respondents. Each of the four sessions is anchored by a position paper by the session’s chair to discuss current theoretical considerations on a given theme. All presenters and observers are encouraged to take an active part in discussions throughout the Symposium.

Governor’s B
10K Response and Responsibility: On the Presidential Leadership of Academic Societies
Presidential Roundtable
Chair: Debra Wong, University of California-Riverside
10:15
The 2007 SEM President’s Roundtable will convene the presidents of six academic societies, the Society for Ethnomusicology and its sister organizations, the American Folklore Society, the American Musicological Society, the Society for American Music, the Music Library Association, and the International Council for Traditional Music. Through opening statements and subsequent discussion the presidents will examine the limits of executive leadership in the shaping of academic societies in an age when pressures to be responsive both within and outside the societies have become increasingly difficult to fully reconcile. The president must be at once a mediator for the diverse opinions of the membership and a spokesperson for the society in the public sphere. Elected through a political process, the president must understand the ways in which the membership wishes to minimize or maximize the political potential of the society, not least in an era when it tackles head-on themes such as war, peace, and reconciliation.
The question of presidential leadership becomes particularly thorny when, as in the 2007 decision by the SEM to address the use of music as torture, academic responsibility assumes the force of moral imperative. Responsible politics and response to the polis are, thus, crucial to the limits and the potential of presidential leadership to bring about real and substantive change.
The six presidents who will take part in the President’s Roundtable are:
- Charles Atkinson (Ohio State University), American Musicological Society
- Philip V. Bohlman (University of Chicago), Society for Ethnomusicology
- Michael Broyles (Pennsylvania State University), Society for American Music
- Bill Ivey (Vanderbilt University), American Folklore Society
- Adrienne Kaeppler, (The Smithsonian Institution) The International Council for Traditional Music
- Philip Vandermeer, (University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill) Music Library Association

Concert by OSU Faculty & Students - Weigel Hall, OSU Campus

Korean epic P’ansori will be performed by Chan E. Park, Professor of Korean Language, Literature, and Performing Arts, who is a world-renowned expert in the genre. Chan Park will accompany her rendition of P’ansori on the puk, a double-headed barrel drum.

Slavic Ensemble Rusalka consists of the OSU students in Margarita Mazo’s class, faculty and staff, as well as residents of the Columbus metropolitan area. Rusalka’s repertory includes music from Eastern Europe, but its specialties are songs of Russian villages and Russian Orthodox chant. This performance will be a reunion with several Rusalka alumni from across the country.

African Performing Ensemble: The ensemble features students in the class with supportive guest artists from within and outside of the Columbus area. The repertoire usually is a mixture of music and dance selections from West and East African regions, including popular music varieties. African Performing Ensemble is led by Daniel Avorgbedor. A special guest artist at this concert is Professor James Makubuya (Wabash College) who will open the African ensemble section with selections on East African stringed instruments.
