Literature Call for Papers

Diálogos is an interdisciplinary conference that invites original graduate-student research in the fields of Hispanic and Lusophone linguistics, literatures, and culture. Diálogos strives to represent the diversity of research in the field of Luso-Hispanic literary and cultural studies and welcomes papers and presentations on a variety of topics including (but not limited to) literary, political, and cultural theory, biopolitics, religion, film, gender studies and indigenous and first-peoples studies, as well as Trans-Atlantic, African, Peninsular, and Latin American perspectives. Submissions and presentations may be in English, Spanish, Portuguese, and Catalan.

SUBMISSION DEADLINE: Jan. 4, 2016

Please submit an anonymous 250-word abstract with a presentation and/or panel title by January 4 via e-mail to gsac@indiana.edu. All personal information should be included in the body of the email message and should include your name, email, institution address, telephone number (office or home), and title of your presentation. Submissions of panels of three or four presenters organized around a common theme are encouraged. Individual presentation time should not exceed twenty minutes. Please notify us if you require audiovisual equipment such as laptops, projectors, or speakers. There is a $20 registration fee payable upon acceptance of your proposal.

Guest Speakers

Erin Graff Zivin
(University of Southern California)

Joan Bybee
(University of New Mexico)