From Your President

I look forward to a productive year as President of the University Club. I welcome your ideas and suggestions. The men and women of the University established numerous organizations to network, socialize and support each other. I believe that a viable and vibrant organization is one that adjusts to the times and moves forward with new ideas, programs and projects. I promise that I will make every effort to honor the University Club's past and work to keep it evolving to serve its constituencies.

A move to Bloomington in 1999, with my husband, Jim (a native Hoosier) when we retired, has turned out to be a great decision. Jim, a 1958 IU journalism grad, has special memories of IU life as a student. Although he went on to Case-Western Reserve University and the University of Michigan for graduate degrees, IU is where his unwavering loyalty remains! "Go Big RED" has been a lively cheer each football and basketball season since we were married in 1961.

We serendipitously ran into Jim's journalism classmates, Ruth and David Albright, the first summer we were in Bloomington. Ruth, then president of the Women's Club, invited us to join the Club. During the summer of 2000, the Club needed a webmaster and they sent me to UITS to learn HTML and web design. Having retired from more than three decades of teaching elementary school in Ypsilanti, Michigan, learning a different technology was both challenging and rewarding. I am still your webmaster.

Additionally, I was honored to attend several Big Ten Women's Conferences as a representative of the University Club. The conferences offered an opportunity to network with many other University Club leaders. The organizers of the Michigan State, Northwestern, Penn State and the University of Michigan conferences all invited me to make presentations about our website and answer questions related to web development. All the clubs are interested in website development as it is the 21st century way of communicating and publicizing what your club does.

All of the Club representatives who were privileged to attend the Big Ten Conferences were most impressed with the level of support the various clubs bring to their universities. We discovered all but IU had long established endowed scholarship funds. It was an exciting moment for me when, under the leadership of Ruth Albright and Richard Dever in 2003, an endowed scholarship was established for IU students employed in the IMU by working with the IU Foundation.

Sincerely,

Lu Cregar

University Club Board Report

The Board met three times this summer (June, July, and August) to ensure all is in place for the coming program year. The board has set four goals for the year.

1. To increase membership by at least by 50 members. The Membership Committee has met under the leadership of Jean Sebeok and will be announcing a plan in early fall. Membership has decreased in the past five years as the expenses of the Club have risen. We need all members to assist in bringing in new faculty, staff, alumni and community members.
2. To promote greater participation in club programs and events.
3. To promote and publicize our programs to a wider audience. The Publicity Committee has met under the leadership of Suzanne Phillips. They have created a common press release form for all event chairs to use and the Club office will email the information to all the local print, radio and public calendars.
4. To encourage participation in the Club's Interest Groups.
5. Establish a Task Force Committee to review all the Clubs' bylaws and align them for the most effective use of Club leadership that fosters cooperation and collaboration and assures a successful Club far into the future.

The Board will report monthly on its activities in the newsletter. You are all welcome to email the Club's President with your thoughts and suggestions. Lu Cregar: lcregar@indiana.edu

Alcohol Policy

To bring the University Club in line with State liquor laws and to meet criteria of the contractual agreement between the IMU and Sodexo, the alcohol policy for ALL club events, member and non-member, was changed on and effective April 3, 2008 to the following:

- IMU Catering must supply all alcohol beverages and a licensed bartender.

These requirements are not unlike those of other venues in the city. If you have any questions, please call the UClub office.

ATTENTION IU RETIREES: LIFE MEMBER FORMS

For those individuals who are retired IU faculty and staff, the University will pay for your membership dues, single or family, on an annual basis. Each year a form is sent to you for updated information and signature. These forms are required annually. There is an updated form in this month's newsletter. Please fill it out and return to us. If you know of other retirees who are not presently members but would like to join, please pass along the form to them or contact our office with their names and addresses. It is a wonderful savings for IU retirees and a great way to stay in touch with friends!

Lunch with Dean Richard McKaig

"UNIVERSITY STUDENT OF 2012"

Richard McKaig, Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs and Dean of Students at Indiana University Bloomington, was awarded the 2005 Scott Goodnight Award for Outstanding Performance as a Dean by the National Association of Student Personnel Administrators.

The Goodnight award is given to a dean who has demonstrated sustained professional service in student affairs work, high-level competency in administrative skills, innovative response in meeting students' varied and emerging needs, effectiveness in developing junior staff members, and leadership in community and university affairs.

The award recipient also must have earned stature among and support of students, faculty and fellow administrators on his or her campus and made significant contributions to the field through publications or professional involvement.

McKaig, who came to IU in 1971, has served as Vice Chancellor, Dean and Associate Professor of Education since 1991. The Office of the Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs and Dean of Students at IU oversees the Division of Student Affairs. It provides broad support to individual students, student groups, parents, alumni and other members of the Bloomington campus. Its involvement in campus life cuts across a wide range of issues, activities and services, even as it coordinates policy, budget and personnel matters for the student services area.

MEADOWOOD TRIPS

This year the University Club and Meadowood have signed a contract which allows our members and guests to join Meadowood residents on their trips. As you will see throughout the year, there are many events available. Below is an article by Ronald Kovener. He joined them recently on a trip to Crawfordsville.

The Meadowood day trip on July 15 was most enjoyable and informative. This was the first trip available for participation by University Club members since an agreement of cooperation between the two organizations was signed. The weather cooperated in making this a very special day—sunny, dry, and comfortable temperatures. Trip leader, Kathy Weigel, had things organized for everyone's enjoyment and bus driver, Monte, got us smoothly through tight squeezes and beautiful scenery.

The first stop was the museum and study of Lew Wallace—a renaissance man extraordinaire. Not only did Wallace score a literary home run with his second novel, Ben Hur, he was a successful self-taught lawyer, Governor of both Indiana and the New Mexico Territory, youngest general of his rank in the Civil War who saved Washington D.C. from capture, ambassador to the Ottoman Empire, inventor, and painter. Ben Hur was the best-selling novel of the 19th century and has never been out of print; four movies have been made based on the novel's plot. With his wealth from Ben Hur, he decided to build a study, a free standing, architecturally unique building filled with memorabilia from his exciting life including the chair in which he sat under a tree to write his epic novel. Each state gets to place two statues in the U.S. Capital's National Statuary Hall; Wallace is one of the Hoosiers thus honored.

The next stop was the home of Andrew Lane whose wife, Joanna, was the sister of the wife of Lew Wallace. The home, Lane Place, is completely furnished with its original furnishings which gave our group a peek at high society Victorian life. An oil painting by Wallace of Lane hangs over the fireplace of the parlor of Lane Place. Lane was a state representative, U. S. congressman, and Civil War general. His election as Governor of Indiana solidified Indiana's status as a free state but his service as governor was short lived. By pre-arrangement, he was appointed to the U.S. Senate after serving as governor for only two days earning him the status as the state's shortest serving governor. He was a founder of the Republican Party, the first chairman of the National Republican Convention, and secured the support needed to nominate Abraham Lincoln for president. He was chairman of Lincoln's second inaugural and a delegate to Lincoln's funeral.

A deck overlooking picturesque Sugar Creek was the delightful setting for lunch. The group was then thrown in jail—the world's only remaining, operable revolving jail. Two levels of eight wedge shaped cells for two inmates each are within a circle of bars with only a single gate on each level. With a hand crank, the entire two level turn table is rotated to align each cell with the single gate. Each cell included a toilet emptying into the central sewage pit creating one of the nation's earliest flush toilet installations in a public building. This high tech innovation was housed in an elegant Victorian brick building as the back half of what appeared to be a grand mansion providing the jailer with a sumptuous setting for his 24-7 oversight of his prisoners.

Finally, two energetic, informed students at Wabash College provided an excellent tour of the campus with its outstanding architecture. They helped us understand the basis of the school spirit with anecdotes and tales of student life. Our group got an inside visit to the spectacular Allen Athletic Center that houses major athletic facilities including an enormous indoor pool. This facility borders the football and track stadium. As one of only four all men's colleges in the U.S., our student guides said the rumors about bus loads of women coming to campus are untrue; in fact, they said ours was the first bus with women passengers they had ever seen.

Everyone was delighted with all aspects of the tour, one of a series of Meadowood tours to the stomping grounds of the famous Hoosier authors. UClub members will enjoy future opportunities to partake of these and the many other tours on the Meadowood schedule. This was a terrific launch of a welcome affiliation.

INTEREST GROUPS

2008-2009

All members in good standing of the University Club are eligible to participate in as many Interest Groups as they wish. Members who have paid their membership dues may sign up for Interest Groups at the Fall Luncheon at Terry's, September 11, 2008 or the Fall Welcome Reception, September 18, 2008 at the IU Foundation, or by contacting the chairman of the particular interest group. There is a great deal more information about the groups on the University Club of Indiana University website and we encourage you to check there.

There will also be sign-ups for interest groups who will be seeking members but currently do not have chairs. Those include Gardening and Lunchettes. If you are interested in chairing these or starting a new interest group, please contact the Chair for Interests Groups. All interests groups require a chair, so if you have an "Interest" why not see if there are others who share it and set up sign-ups at the Fall Luncheon?

2008 SCHOLARSHIP RECIPIENTS

It is my privilege to present our fifth annual University Club scholarship recipients. Thanks to the generosity of our members we were able to award two $1000 scholarships this year to two very deserving students. These scholarships go to Elizabeth Retana and Reid Simon.

Elizabeth is a junior from Oakland City who is majoring in Sports Communication and Broadcasting. She has worked at the Indiana Memorial Union hotel front desk and parking operations for the past two semesters. She has supported herself financially for her education and maintains her high GPA. Liz is also the new president of the Indiana Memorial Union Board which governs the IMU.

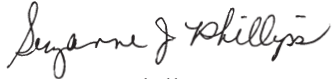

Liz's supervisor, Brandi Host, says that Liz's drive and determination are key to successfully balancing her academic studies, student leadership and a part-time job and represents the University very well while interacting with visitors on the IUB campus.

Reid Simon is a junior in the Kelley School of Business majoring in Finance and Accounting. He has worked at the IMU Tudor Room since the fall of 2006 serving as a supervisor. He has supported himself financially for his education and maintains a high GPA. Reid personally enjoys his work and especially the people he works with. He also appreciates the opportunity to interact with the student body, administration and community-at-large.

Reid's supervisor, Josh York, says that Reid seeks challenge and achieves difficult goals. His extra effort, his "can do" energy, honest hard work and "roll-up his sleeves" dedication is how he defines Reid Simon.

We thank all the students who submitted a scholarship application this year and many thanks to all of you who contributed to the scholarship fund.

Please join me in congratulating our 2008 University Club Scholarship recipients.

Suzanne J. Phillips
Scholarship Committee, Chair

YOGA

You need not feel intimidated by yoga! This group is for anyone who is interested in improving their balance, learning to breathe in a healthful manner, add more flexibility to their body, and calming their mind. No previous knowledge of yoga is required and these classes are free to members of the University Club. Our group meets every Tuesday morning at 10 a.m. and the session lasts one hour. Wear loose comfortable clothes that allow your movements. You can work out barefoot or wear socks or flexible shoes. You will need a yoga mat and either stretchy bands or belts. No reservations are necessary.

We meet at the beautiful St. Thomas Lutheran Church in a fabulous room which seems to have been built especially for yoga as it has high windows and is carpeted and open so that it fits many people stretching out. St. Thomas Lutheran Church is located at Smith Road and E. 3rd Street. There is plenty of free parking.

Louise Kirke, Mark Day, and Louray Cain take turns teaching these classes so there is variety in methods and classes. If you have questions, please call Louray at 339-9841.

Chair: Louray Cain 339-9841, louray1@comcast.net
