Indiana University Bloomington
America’s Legacy Campus

Indiana University Bloomington is widely considered to be among the most beautiful college campuses in America. How the campus emerged from pioneer days in 1825 to the present is an interesting but complex story. Terry Clapacs, Indiana University Vice President Emeritus, recently finished writing a book on the history of the IU Bloomington campus and will share the insights he gained over a 43 year career spent physically planning the campus on the foundations left behind by William Lowe Bryan and Herman B Wells.

Terry Clapacs served Indiana University for 43 years, the last 25 as Vice President, making him one of the longest serving officers in University history. As Vice President and Chief Administrative Officer, Terry’s portfolio spanned most of the non-academic functions of the University, including oversight of Campus Planning, Real Estate, Human Resources, Purchasing, the Physical Plant, IU Police, and IU Athletics. In 2002, President Brand and the trustees asked Terry to also serve as Athletic Director, which he did for two years. During that time, Terry balanced the Athletic Department budget and IU teams who were very competitive, winning two national championships in men’s soccer and Big Ten championships in several other sports. In his planning role for all University capital projects, Terry was responsible for implementing 661 major building projects, or more than half of all buildings on IU’s eight campuses.
Martha Foster is a visual anthropologist and Emmy-winning documentary filmmaker who founded and currently heads the non-profit organization Living Earth Television (LETV.org). LETV is based in Bloomington and was founded to locate, adapt and distribute outstanding documentary films produced by indigenous filmmakers around the world, for broadcast and education.

Foster has worked in a variety of settings, from film festivals to the Smithsonian Institution, to Chicago Public Television and the Department of State’s American Documentary Showcase. Martha Foster has worked to promote public understanding of the world’s peoples and cultures, specifically through intercultural documentary films. Foster has worked and traveled extensively on four continents, most recently focusing on Asia.

LETV premiered a new English version of the award-winning Chinese documentary One Child in the spring of 2017 on the PBS World Channel.

Foster will share highlights of her work and show a number of clips from award-winning contemporary Chinese documentaries that LETV is adapting for broadcast on the PBS World Channel.

Please make checks payable to the University Club and mail to IMU #150, 900 E. 7th Street, Bloomington, IN 47405, or Call 812-855-1325 to pay by credit card.

My name is Livy Crim. I'm a rising junior in the School of Public and Environmental Affairs. As a Policy Analysis major and Environmental Management minor, I'm pursuing a Certificate in Applied Research and Inquiry (CARI). I will be receiving my Bachelor's degree in Spring of 2019, but I plan to stay in Bloomington to join SPEA's dual Master's program. After graduating, I hope to work as a policy analyst for a think tank, government organization, non-profit, or other environmentally-conscious organization, drafting and reviewing environmental research to guide future policy.

I've worked at the Biddle Hotel for almost a year now. I love it because I get to spend all day interacting with people who love IU as much as I do: prospective and current students, alumni, parents, etc. It feels great to chat with customers and help them find their way around my favorite campus.

Worrying about school and paying bills can be a challenge. This scholarship will allow me to focus more on school and pursuing my dream of working with environmental policy and helping foster a more sustainable relationship between humans and the environment.

My name is Matt Mercer. I am originally from Columbia, Maryland two years ago I moved to Bloomington, Indiana to start school at Indiana University. This decision was a real turning point in my life. I am in my third year at Indiana University majoring in Information Systems at the Kelley Business school, and have worked at the IMU since 2016 in the catering department as a server.

Working at the IMU started out as just a job to earn money to pay for my out-of-state tuition, fees, and living expenses (about $45,000 an academic year), but now the IMU feels like home. I love the people that I work with, and the clients that I serve, the IMU has become a second home. This scholarship helps pay for those expenses not covered by loans and my wages.

Thank you for giving me a chance to continue my education.

Dear University Club Member:

The University Club has a long tradition of fostering collegiality among its members and the campus community. For over a decade The University Club Scholarship Endowment Fund has continued to grow and provide much needed assistance to our excellent Indiana Memorial Union student employees. Thanks to your continued generous support, the scholarship fund is generating an annual income of $2,000.00, allowing us to award two $1,000.00 scholarships.

“Worrying about school and paying my bills can be a challenge, and this scholarship allows me to focus more on school.”

~Livvy Crim, 2017-18 scholarship recipient, Biddle Hotel employee

Livvy’s words highlight just how important this scholarship is to the lives of our Indiana University students. With the average cost of attendance at $24,784 for an in-state student and $48,642 for an out-of-state student, you are helping lift the financial burden that some students feel. We would like your help to continue growing the endowment. We are writing to you today to ask if you would consider making a gift to The University Club Scholarship Endowment Fund by December 1, 2017.

Contributions may be tax-deductible on federal tax returns and may be eligible for the Indiana College Credit on state tax returns, depending on your personal circumstances. Because of the historic nature of IU’s approaching bicentennial, donors are also making gifts of stock, life insurance, or life income gift plans (charitable gift annuities, trusts, etc.) through their estate. For assistance with estate planning, please contact: Dave Spencer, Development Director, at daaspenc@indiana.edu or (812)856-7805 for further information.

Please join me in reaching out to the most important segment of our community, our students. On the enclosed form, please indicate how you would like to support the University Club Scholarship. For your convenience, a return envelope is also enclosed.

With great thanks and warm wishes,

Sincerely,

Suzanne J. Phillips

Meet the UClub Assistant Secretary

Anna Radue was raised on a small, family farm in central Illinois and received a master’s degree in microbiology from the University of Illinois. She worked in Eli Lilly’s antibiotic development and biosynthetic insulin fermentation departments in Indianapolis where she met her chemist husband, Roger. Anna stayed home with her two young sons for several years and then returned to graduate school at IU’s School of Public and Environmental Affairs. She completed master’s degrees in Environmental Science and Public Affairs while working in SPEA’s Midwest Center for Global Environmental Change. Falling in love with geographic information systems (GIS), remote sensed imagery, and large computers, Anna transitioned to University Information Technology Services’ Research Computing unit providing GIS support to the Indiana University community before her retirement in 2014.

Anna and Roger frequently travel to visit their 5 grandchildren located in Chicago and central Massachusetts. They hold grandparent’s camp at their family cottage in northern Wisconsin each August. Anna has a large perennial flower garden with a few vegetables - if the deer do not eat, likes to sew and knit, and plays the piano for St. Martin’s Catholic Church. She is the financial clerk for the Lake DeTurk Conservancy District in Martinsville.

Anna and Roger are fans of Indiana University and Bloomington, frequently attending musical and sporting events in addition to dining in the city’s wonderful restaurants. Both enjoy the University Club’s special programs and attend lunches and dinners whenever they are in town. Anna is pleased to be the Club’s assistant secretary this year and looks forward to learning more about the Club’s functions.

Cheap Thrills:

The History of the Paperback

Most of us have grown up with paperback novels and taken them for granted—a cheap read for an airplane ride or a day at the beach. But when the paperback novel was mass marketed by Penguin in 1935 in the UK and by Pocket in 1938 in the United States, it was nothing short of revolutionary. The paperback industry quickly blossomed to include not only classic literature (often hiding between pulpy hard covers) but also expanding popular genres such as science fiction and detective novels. This course will provide a brief history of the paperback novel in Britain and America from 1935 to the present, and participants will have a chance to see and handle colorful and fascinating highlights from the Lilly Library’s growing collection of paperbacks.

Three Tuesdays:
- September 19, 26 & Oct. 3
