HIKING IN SOUTHERN INDIANA

Six hearty souls hiked the Amy Weingartner Branigin Peninsula Preserve on November 8th. Shane Gibson of the Sycamore Land Trust (SLT) was our guide. He provided an interesting historical perspective about the area as he guided us along the peninsula. The land was a part of Shawnee Bluffs Camp owned by Indiana University Alumni Association. When the camp was sold, 48-acres was preserved as hardwood forest with trails to the peninsula. This property just north of the causeway on Lake Monroe is nestled among the residential properties on Rush Ridge Road off Ind 446. We were welcomed to the shore by a persimmon tree with fruit to taste. Hikers enjoyed the brisk, sunny weather and good company.

The group's next hike will be in February so stay tuned for the details of where that will be. If you want to join this group, contact Kathleen Boggess, kboggess44@gmail.com.

Art in the IU Auditorium

When the IU Auditorium was dedicated in 1941, it served not as only a world-class performance space, but as a showcase for the visual arts. During its design phase, President Herman B. Wells contacted Governor Cliff Townsend and asked whether the Indiana Murals by Thomas Hart Benton that he’d seen at the 1933 Chicago World’s Fair were still available and could be transferred to Indiana University. They became the centerpiece for the building’s grand Hall of Murals.

The Dailey Family Memorial Collection of Hoosier Art lines the hallways of the IU Auditorium. This group of over 100 paintings was collected by Mrs. Frank C. Dailey and his wife Edna and gifted to IU beginning in the 1960s. The collection includes a little bit of everything, from landscapes to portraits, barn scenes to cityscapes, even animals!

Ella Fitzgerald:
The First Lady of Song

Ella Fitzgerald, the First Lady of Song, was the most celebrated singer of her generation, and arguably the finest interpreter of what we call the “Great American Songbook.” Blessed with an uncanny sense of time and pitch, it’s no wonder Duke Ellington referred to Fitzgerald as “beyond category.” In this course, Mark Chilla, the host of WTHU Radio’s show of American Popular Song, Afterglow, chronicles the life and career of this immensely talented, yet surprisingly shy, jazz singer, showcasing archive footage of her live performances and trying to uncover what exactly made Ella so good.
