The Society for Ethnomusicology will hold its 61st Annual Meeting on November 10-13, 2016, at the Omni Shoreham Hotel, co-hosted by Smithsonian Folkways Recordings and The George Washington University. The American Folklife Center will present a pre-conference symposium, “Soundings: Public Sector Ethnomusicology in the 21st Century,” on November 9 at the Library of Congress. In addition, SEM is partnering with the Music and Sound Interest Group of the American Anthropological Association to present a special forum, “Anthropology of Sound,” on November 11. For information on all meeting arrangements, including calls for proposals, please visit the SEM website (www.ethnomusicology.org) and select “Conferences.”

In order to create an inclusive environment for presenting new research, there will be no theme or specified topics for the SEM 2016 Annual Meeting. The Program Committee asks presenters to submit their best work on any topic related to ethnomusicology and to be creative with presentation formats. In addition, we suggest that SEM sections, special interest groups, committees, and other constituent units consider sponsoring organized sessions, though we will not give any preference to sponsored sessions.

Based on previous conference attendee surveys, we also encourage organized panels that comprise a mix of junior and senior scholars from multiple institutions, and include a separate panel chair (i.e., a chair who does not present a paper on the panel). In addition, we encourage panels with presenters from more than one country.

The online deadline for submission of all proposals is 5:00 pm EST, Friday, February 19, 2016.

Please note that all presenters must hold a current SEM membership and must pre-register for the conference. Presenters who do not meet these two requirements will be dropped from the program and will not be permitted to present at the SEM 2016 Annual Meeting.

Proposals for the Annual Meeting are invited in 8 categories, as outlined below. All proposals must include a proposal form and an abstract. When submitting a proposal, first select the appropriate form:

A. Individual Presenter Form for single paper, performance or lecture-demonstration, film/video program, and workshop (participatory).

B. Organized Session Form for organized panel, roundtable, multiple film/video program, and group-led workshop (participatory).

PROPOSALS TO BE SUBMITTED ON THE INDIVIDUAL PRESENTER FORM

1. Single Paper: An individual paper presentation is 20 minutes long and is followed by 10 minutes of discussion.
2. Performance or Lecture-Demonstration: Up to 1 hour long.
3. Film/Video: One recently completed or in-progress film or video up to 2 hours long. A session should include time for an introduction and discussion. Submit title, subject, and information on the introduction/discussion. Indicate the length of both the film/video and the introduction/discussion.
4. Workshop (participatory): Informal, interactive hands-on session on one topic (e.g., music performance, dance, recording technology) for a maximum of 2 hours (indicate length).
PROPOSALS TO BE SUBMITTED ON THE ORGANIZED SESSION FORM

5. Organized Panel: An organized panel session is 1.5 or 2 hours long. A 1.5-hour panel consists of three papers. A 2-hour panel consists of either four papers or three papers plus a discussant. Each presentation (a paper or a discussant’s formal response) is 20 minutes long, followed by 10 minutes of questions and general discussion. The Program Committee reserves the right to suggest the addition of a panelist when an independently submitted abstract appears to fit a panel. (Those interested in a more flexible format with more participants may want to consider proposing a roundtable.) A proposal for an organized panel should be submitted by the panel organizer. Include the panel abstract (describing the rationale for the panel as a whole) and abstracts for the individual papers. The panel abstract is particularly critical to the Program Committee’s evaluation.

6. Roundtable: A roundtable provides an opportunity for participants to discuss a subject with each other and with members of the audience. A roundtable may be 1.5 or 2 hours long (please specify) and may include up to six presenters. We encourage formats that stimulate discussion and audience participation (at least 50% of the roundtable time must be devoted to discussion). The organizer will solicit position papers of up to 10 minutes from each presenter and will facilitate questions and discussion for the remaining time. The organizer should submit an abstract that outlines the purpose/agenda and organization of the roundtable, as well as the contributions of each participant (unnamed in the abstract). The organized session form provides a space where participants and their institutional affiliations should be listed.

7. Multiple Film/Video Program: Multiple presenters of recently completed or in-progress films, videos, or excerpts, together extending up to 2 hours. A session should include introductions and discussion time. The session organizer should submit an abstract that outlines the overall subject of the session and includes information on the film/video titles and subjects and on the introduction/discussion. Also indicate the exact length of each proposed film/video (or excerpt) and of the introduction/discussion. The organized session form provides a space where participants and their institutional affiliations should be listed.

8. Group-Led Workshop (participatory): Informal, interactive hands-on session on one topic (e.g., music performance, dance, recording technology) for a maximum of 2 hours (indicate length). The organizer should submit an abstract that describes the subject of the session and the contributions of between two and five session leaders (unnamed in the abstract). The organized session form provides a space where participants and their institutional affiliations should be listed.

SUBMISSIONS, REQUIREMENTS, AND DEADLINES

Submission: All proposals must be submitted online. To access the submission system, visit www.ethnomusicology.org and select “Conferences” / “Current” / “Abstract Submission.”

About Abstracts: Abstracts should demonstrate a clear focus or statement of the problem, a coherent argument, knowledge of previous research, and a statement of the implications for ethnomusicology. Carefully observe these and other instructions given on the proposal submission web pages.

All abstracts must comply with the following requirements:

- Abstracts should appear as a single paragraph.
- Abstracts over 250 words will be automatically disqualified.
- Abstracts identifying presenters, fellow researchers, or other participants will be automatically disqualified.
• Abstracts must be submitted online by 5:00 pm EST, February 19, 2016. In order to avoid website technical problems, it is strongly suggested that proposals be submitted at least 24 hours before the deadline.

Limit on Number of Presentations: SEM policy specifies that, during the regular sessions of the Annual Meeting, an individual may participate in ONLY ONE of the following ways:

- Give one paper (individually or as part of an organized panel)
- Act as a discussant for a panel
- Participate in one roundtable, workshop, performance, or lecture-demonstration
- Present one film/video program

In addition, an individual may chair ONE panel, roundtable, or workshop. Therefore, an individual may submit ONLY ONE abstract proposal to SEM. (Organizers of panels may submit an individual presenter abstract as well as the panel abstract.)

SEM membership and pre-registration fees: Following SEM policy, all participants whose proposals have been accepted for the program must be SEM members and must pre-register for the meeting by July 1. This requirement also applies to those who have agreed to be waitlisted. Guest speakers at sessions sponsored by SEM constituent units must be SEM members and must pre-register for the meeting. If necessary, sections should arrange to use their dues to cover membership and registration fees for their guest speakers. Any presenter who has not purchased an SEM membership and pre-registered for the meeting by July 1 will be deleted from the program.

Notification of acceptance: SEM members whose proposals have been accepted will be sent pre-registration information around June 1. If by June 15 you have not received a message from the Program Committee indicating whether or not your abstract was accepted, please contact Drew Norris, SEM Conference Coordinator, at Indiana University Conferences at semconf@indiana.edu.

Cancellations and no-shows: No-shows inconvenience the chair, discussant, fellow panelists, and audience members. Participants who discover that they are unable to attend the meeting should notify the Program Committee Chair and semconf@indiana.edu immediately. SEM policy does not permit anyone other than the author to read a paper and does not permit Skyped readings. Registration cancellations made after August 5 will not qualify for a refund.

Special requests: Please indicate potential scheduling conflicts to the Program Committee Chair. If notified in advance, the Program Committee will attempt to accommodate requests, but cannot guarantee a particular time slot.

Charles Seeger Prize: Students interested in having a paper considered for the Charles Seeger Prize should consult the guidelines on the SEM website (www.ethnomusicology.org) under “Prizes.” Note that papers must be submitted by November 14, 2016 (the day after the Annual Meeting).

Contact Information

For online submissions of proposals: Go to www.ethnomusicology.org and select “Conferences.” Submission deadline: 5:00 pm EST, February 19, 2016.
