

General Questions: What is Coeus?

Coeus is the name given to an Electronic Research Administration system developed by the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) and named after the Greek Titan of Intelligence. Created to assist the research community in proposal development and pre- and post-award management, the purpose of the system is to standardize and increase the efficiency of award acquisition and administration for all participants contributing to the research enterprise.

Unique solution ID: #1086

Author:

Last update: 2011-04-25 20:50